(a) The aggrieved party or its member, may declare a dispute by written notification to the secretary and the other party concerned.

(b) The secretary shall refer the dispute to arbitration and shall forthwith after consultation with the parties appoint an arbitrator who is available, from the panel of arbitrators agreed to by the council.

(c) The arbitrator shall commence with the arbitration within 21 days as from the date upon which the secretary has been notified of the dispute, and, subject to this constitution, the arbitration shall be conducted in terms of the Arbitration Act, 1965 (Act 42 of 1965).

(d) The arbitrator shall determine the procedure to be followed at the arbitration, including the manner in which evidence shall be led, and regulate any other matter incidental thereto in a manner he believes fair, reasonable and expedient in the circumstances.

(e) The arbitrator shall have the power to determine the dispute and make any award that he considers appropriate in the circumstances including but not limited to reinstatement with compensation, with or without retrospective effect, and any award with regard to the costs of the arbitration: Provided that in determining the dispute the arbitrator shall also take into account the specific education environment.

(f) An award made by an arbitrator in terms of this sub-clause (2), shall be binding on the parties to such arbitration from the date on which the award was made until such time as it is replaced by a final adjudication by the Industrial Court or the Labour Appeal Court in terms of section 18 of the Act. Provided that should neither of the parties apply to the Industrial Court for a determination in terms of section 18 of the Act within a period of 30 days from the date on which the award is made by the arbitrator, the arbitration award shall become final and binding on the parties and neither party shall be entitled to apply for a determination by the industrial Court in terms of section 18 of the Act after the expiry of the said period of thirty days from the date of the arbitrator's award.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed to in writing, the following procedure shall be followed in the case of a dispute concerning an alleged unfair labour practice other than a suspension or termination of employment, retrenchment, refusal of re-employment or disciplinary action:

(a) An aggrieved party shall within 180 days as from the date of the alleged unfair labour practice refer the dispute in writing to the secretary and the other party to the dispute, which referral shall set out adequate particulars of the alleged unfair labour practice provided that the 180 day period may be extended by the council on good cause shown.

(b) The secretary shall within 7 days from the referral arrange a meeting of the parties to the dispute committee.

(c) The dispute committee shall attempt to settle the dispute within 7 days as from their first meeting.
(d) Should the dispute committee wish to employ the services of a mediator, the secretary shall after consultation with the parties, appoint a mediator who is available from the panel of mediators, to mediate in the dispute.

(e) The mediator shall commence with the mediation within 14 days as from the date of the first meeting of the dispute committee.

(f) Should the above steps fail to settle the dispute within 30 days of the referral of the dispute to the council the council would be deemed to have failed to settle the dispute and any party may refer the dispute for determination in terms of section 18 of the Act.

(g) The dispute committee shall comprise no more than 6 members appointed by the parties to the dispute, provided that if there are more than two employee members to the dispute, the number of committee members shall be increased by two additional members for every additional employee member.

(h) One half of the members of the dispute committee shall be appointed by the employer members who are parties to the dispute and the other half by the employee members who are parties to the dispute.

(4) If a dispute contemplated in section 18(1) of the Act has been referred to the Council, and at least one of the parties to the said dispute is not a party to the Council, the procedure contained in clause 13(3)(a) to (h) shall apply mutatis mutandis.
14. Negotiation procedures on matters of mutual interest

(1) Should any party wish to initiate negotiations for the amendment of an existing agreement or the conclusion of a new agreement, whether at national or regional level, such party shall submit its proposals to the secretary in writing.

(2) (a) The secretary shall immediately transmit the proposal to all interested parties and shall take all necessary steps to ensure that the first negotiation meeting be held within 30 days of receipt of the proposals.

(b) The parties shall consider the proposals, assess the nature thereof and thereafter determine whether the matter is a matter of mutual interest as defined in the Act.

(3) Where a party makes a counter proposal in response to an initial proposal, such counter proposal shall be made available to all parties by the secretary at least 7 days before the first negotiating meeting.

(4) At the conclusion of each negotiation meeting the parties may decide on the date on which the next negotiating meeting is to be held and agree on such further documentation as may be required.

(5) Where one or more parties to the council decides that further negotiations will not secure an agreement, the party or parties may advise the council that they are in dispute in which event, unless such parties specifically agree to the contrary, the secretary shall, within 7 days appoint a mediator who is available, from the panel of mediators agreed to by the council to mediate in the dispute: Provided that such dispute shall not preclude the remaining parties from concluding an agreement. Provided further that, although such agreement shall be binding on a party or parties in dispute, the existence of such agreement shall not preclude the latter parties from pursuing the dispute or disputes as set out in this constitution or the Act and such agreement shall be deemed not to be an agreement for purposes of section 15(1)(a) of the Act, in respect of the latter parties.

(6) The mediator shall commence with mediation within 7 days from his appointment, in terms of the following procedure:

(d) This finding merely expresses an opinion and will not be regarded as an award on the dispute which is the subject of the mediation.

(7) Should the above steps fail to settle the dispute within 30 days of the declaration of a dispute the council would be deemed to have failed to settle the dispute and any party may take such further lawful action as it deems fit.
